

Gene-level evidence that promoter hypermethylation drives RNA silencing

Higher promoter methylation in the dark-matter zone correlates with lower RNA expression at the gene level — direct methylation-silencing evidence.